

Police Sift Scant Evidence In Shooting

Officers were still without any promising leads yesterday in their area-wide search for the killer of Louis Conrad, 61, Hatwai, Friday night in his self-service gasoline station 3 miles east of the city.

Conrad was shot twice as he stood alone in the station. His body was discovered lying on the floor of the station by his wife when she brought him his lunch at 10 p.m.

Conrad had turned out the gasoline pump lights in front of the station at 8:30, as was his custom. He normally kept the station open, however, until midnight.

LOUIS CONRAD

Driver Sought

Prosecutor Wynne M. Blake asked yesterday that the driver of a dark-colored pickup known to have stopped in front of the station about 8:30, report to the sheriff's office. The pickup was seen driving into the station shortly after 8:30 by E. B. Stranahan, who had stopped briefly to talk with Conrad.

"The driver of this pickup may be able to shed some light on the case," Blake said.

Blake also asked that anyone who had seen or talked to Conrad at the service station on the night of the shooting report to the sheriff's office.

The investigation of the killing is being handled by sheriff's officers, state police and city police. Blake is in charge.

Evidence obtained thus far was reviewed by officers in a meeting at the courthouse yesterday.

Officers were still without any promising leads yesterday in their area-wide search for the killer of Louis Conrad, 61, Hatwai, Friday night in his self-service gasoline station 3 miles east of the city.

Conrad was shot twice as he stood alone in the station. His body was discovered lying on the floor of the station by his wife when she brought him his lunch at 10 p.m.

Conrad had turned out the gasoline pump lights in front of the station at 8:30, as was his custom. He normally kept the station open, however, until midnight.

Driver Sought

Prosecutor Wynne M. Blake asked yesterday that the driver of a dark-colored pickup known to have stopped in front of the station about 8:30 report to the sheriff's office. The pickup was seen driving into the station shortly after 8:30 by E. B. Stranahan, who had stopped briefly to talk with Conrad.

"The driver of this pickup may be able to shed some light on the case," Blake said.

Blake also asked that anyone who had seen or talked to Conrad at the service station on the night of the shooting report to the sheriff's office.

The investigation of the killing is being handled by sheriff's officers, state police and city police. Blake is in charge.

Evidence obtained thus far was reviewed by officers in a meeting at the courthouse yesterday.